Dana Point Shipyard Construction is Underway

Construction at the Dana Point Harbor Shipyard started November 16th and is expected to last through February 1st 2016.

The Dana Point Shipyard will be working on complete replacement of all in-water docks, gangways and travelift piers.

A processed water recycling system will also be installed giving them the ability to reuse 100% of all water used.

Dana Point Shipyard's Office will be open during construction for over the counter parts sales, mobile dockside service and trailerable boat repairs.

During construction, the office will also be scheduling haul-outs to begin the first week in February 2016.

Progress pictures can be viewed on the Dana Point Shipyard Facebook page.

The work is expected to impact boaters minimally with some associated noise on occasion.
