RECOMMENDED ACTION(S)

Review and approve the draft By-Laws with the inclusion of the recruitment process for publicly available positions on the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC).

SUMMARY:

There has been no formalized process for the recruitment of publicly available positions on the JJCC. The Probation Department is recommending the adoption of a process to provide an opportunity to qualified members of the public to submit interest through the Probation Department website. Further, the Probation Department will send emails to members of the public who meet the qualifying criteria and direct them to the Probation Department website. Candidates who meet the criteria for a position on the JJCC will be referred to the JJCC for nomination and Board of Supervisors approval.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

Section 749.22 of the California Welfare and Institutions Code establishes the membership of the Juvenile Justice Coordinating Council (JJCC). While most positions are defined as representatives of county agencies, law enforcement agencies or the county office of education, there are four positions that are available to members of the public. There is an at-large community representative, a representative of a community-based drug and alcohol program and a representative of a community-based organization providing services to youth. In addition, federal law required the addition of a Juvenile Court and business community representative. Up to now, there has been no formalized process for the recruitment and selection of the publicly available positions. Individuals have either expressed an interest through the Probation Department to participate or a potential representative is identified and approached to determine if they are interested in participating.
